LET ME INTRODUCE MYSELF...

Andrew Mulholland, Spiritual Director, World Healing Centre

Hi, my name is Andrew and I have been blessed with this amazing opportunity to lead the development of this wonderful charity. As the spiritual director, I am dedicated to ensuring that the World Healing Centre guides and supports people in their spiritual journey, and helps them explore matters of faith, soul, and the divine oneness. Whatever our religious beliefs, we are all part of a collective consciousness, Source, some of us call God. We are all one. Everything that exists, seen or unseen is connected to Source energy. We are divinely inseparable.

In all of us, there is a divine consciousness, a soul that shines brightly within. Within all of us is Source energy. Within all of us is God. Within all of us is a divine light. No matter who you are, what you have done, or what you believe, we have Source within us.

When we operate at a higher frequency, such as peace, joy, and love we are feeding that vibrational frequency to the collective consciousness. We are bringing a positive vibration to the collective consciousness. Our mission at the World Healing Centre is to guide people in spiritual growth and open the door to universal consciousness. This is how we can support the evolutionary awakening of humans collectively in the world and heal the destructive impact of the egoic unconscious mind. We all contribute to healing the world and creating what spiritual teacher Eckhart Tolle calls the New Earth.

A little background to me

Let me tell you about myself. I was born in Glasgow and grew up most of my life in England. My career path began as a dietitian followed by a range of Public Health roles. I currently live in a small village on the outskirts of Blackpool.

My spiritual path, like for many of us has been sparked by a realisation that the unconscious mind when left to its own egoic patterns can be destructive and lead to suffering and a feeling of never enough. Also, as is the case for many people who are awakening spiritually my journey has been helped by following spiritual teachers. There is one spiritual teacher who has helped me to develop my inner teacher, my own wisdom and sense of personal direction.

This teacher is Eckhart Tolle and I have gratitude for the generosity of his spirit in providing me and others who follow him with many helpful pointers to the one truth. Let us value the teachers who are dedicated and aware enough to be sincere to their teachings, and value those students who yearn for the clarity that can reflect pure Being.

What I am passionate about

I love nothing more than 'being' in nature whether that is meandering through woodland, following dramatic clifftop coastal paths, rugged mountain scrambles, walking in our glorious countryside, climbing up hills, or exploring our magnificent National Parks. Being in the natural environment helps me connect with Source and feel the oneness of life. It is a fantastic way to de-stress and a great space to meditate.

I also enjoy travel and exploring unfamiliar places, new views, diverse cultures, different foods. It helps me to break out of limited thinking.

How I view my role at the World Healing Centre...

I value and promote teamwork at The World Healing Centre. A community with a variety of skills, knowledge and experiences possesses gifts that are all necessary to create an environment where our mission can be fulfilled. This includes the staff and volunteers who provide a range of services with passion as well as our members and local community who support us.

It is truly a privilege to be part of this wonderful community of people and I am dedicated to providing vision and direction, directed through consciousness. I commit to live and embody the values, mission, and vision of the World Healing Centre.

Reflections on Connection - Brother Mandus

Perhaps our greatest difficulty in religion, spiritual principles, faith, prayer and all objectives inherent in communion with God, is that we must think.

We pray. We try to break through. We practice techniques of meditation and, although all ways are unique and wonderful, I feel and believe there is a simple method (again I think, use words, and imagine!) to abide in God's perfection.

Let us accept the necessity for formulating a method, a statement, and then see if we can step right into the "By my Spirit" of Absolute Perfection.

An Announcement: Welcome to Mandus House...

We're very pleased to announce that our base in Blackpool within a beautiful Edwardian building and lovely walled garden has recently been named 'Mandus House' in memory of our great founder Brother Mandus. Our new website address will reflect this change and provide updates on what we offer to local communities from the Centre including meditation, spiritual teachings, along with a range of holistic activities to improve overall health and wellbeing.

Mandus House will sit under the overarching World Healing Centre charity and complement our mission.

THE SCIENCE OF THE NEW AGE

Written By Brother Mandus

It seems a far cry from cosmic grandeur to a mere speck of consciousness called "man". Yet, so closely related is the mind of man to the Infinite Mind of God that he can increasingly witness, understand and use cosmic laws and processes in his own experimentation and creativeness. And, so far as mankind is concerned, here is the truth upon which his life and future depend.

Just as we observe and haltingly discover the secrets of creativeness, so too can we now look into the heart of matter itself. The science of Nuclear Physics has taken us from solid matter straight into the realm of energy, and will ultimately lead us into the realm of Spirit operating in Mind, to produce through energy the appearance of matter as we see it in our world.

The astronomer points to continuous creation. The botanist witnesses the life patterns and processes in all vegetation. The biologist observes the mystery of living and "self-creating" organisms in the human body, from conception to old age. The psychologist probes the depths of the mind of man, and glimpses the infinite and almost unexplored powers resident therein. The nuclear physicist now sees energy, not matter, and releases it in hydrogen bombs or nuclear power stations. And, inevitably, in all the sciences, the deeper we delve into the secrets of nature, the more surely do we meet the Mind which creates EVERYTHING, without exception.

As Eddington said "All through the physical world runs that Unknown Content which must surely be of the stuff of Consciousness". Or, with Sir James Jeans: "The Universe looks more like a Great Thought than a machine". Fawcett tells us: "The World-System is a complex fact that has been made, and is still being made within Divine Imagining".

For centuries the quickening mind of man has been fascinated by the physical mechanism of the universe and this world. That it should be so was natural enough, especially in the light of the glittering array of practical results which opened up a vast new material prosperity, with resultant satisfaction of human needs. Even in the relatively new field of psychology, exploration of the mind has been largely confined to the closed circuit of the personal conscious and unconscious mind of man.

Under this pressure of the materialistic concept, the spiritual principle of all life and creation was pushed into the background, and the new intellectuals influenced millions with their "scientific" beliefs.

But NOW a major revolution has set in. The old mechanistic principle is scientifically untenable, and science, in all its branches, is face to face with the "Power beyond the Atom". The only tenable concept now is that "we live, and move and have our being" in the midst of Universal Mind, Spirit, God, All-Power, ceaselessly at work in a system of infinite creativeness, which IS life, law and matter.

We begin to understand with Jesus, that "the Kingdom of God is within" every living cell, within the individual (mentally and physically), within every grain of sand, and within and "outside" the whole of cosmic creation. God omnipotent and omnipresent. Religion, in its basic concept of spiritual principle, and science, have at long last met at a common point of understanding, and both will afford each other immeasurable help in the unfolding of the infinite potentials for the true and wondrous heritage ever beckoning us on.

The scientist, so long immersed in the exploration of solid matter, must now take a bold leap into Universal Mind, with a new understanding that matter IS mind. He can no longer be content with particles, nor even the Atom itself, however intriguing the material structure has proved to be in the past. His future and the most exciting adventure of all, lies in uncovering the creative process itself, and learning to work in supreme collaboration with the Divine Mind which IS that creative Process.

PRAYER

- ANNE NYQUIST -

Prayer in Aramaic (the language of Jesus) is the word 'slotha'. It is a realisation and experience of our oneness with God. An affair of the heart.

When people call us for prayer, we unite with the Perfect Intelligence, the Spirit, the Timeless Eternal dimension in the person and in ourselves. Our founder Brother Mandus used to say: 'Thank You Father for Your Perfection at work upon imperfection'. St Paul expressed it as, 'Christ in you, your hope of glory'.

Jesus said 'I can do nothing of myself' and 'my Father who abides with me does the works'. Prayer is tuning in to God, to Life, to Eternal Love, to Wisdom, to Beauty, to Light. Of course we are one with this Divine Intelligence not separated from it, it is our essential essence, our authentic eternal self.

The greatest healing is becoming aware of our true nature as Spirit.

We have set prayers which we read. These can be a great blessing if read from the heart and one feels the essence of the words. There is petitionary prayer: 'please God, heal my headache'. Then there is the experience of going from form to formlessness, no thought, no words, pure Presence. This is the ultimate form of healing.

Jesus often reminds us of staying awake, being alert.. 'Could you not keep awake for even one hour' ? (Mark 14.37). We get lost in the mind, in the constant chatter of thoughts.

The 23rd Psalm:

'The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.
He makes me to rest in green pastures.
He leads me beside still waters'.

The 'green pastures' and still waters' are about being conscious and awake to Divine Presence, to God, to the Source of all Life.

“ Words of Wisdom from Eckhart Tolle.

CHOICE QUOTES...

“Most humans are never fully present in the now because unconsciously they believe that the next moment must be more important than this one. But then you miss your whole life, which is never not now.”

“It is not uncommon for people to spend their whole life waiting to start living.” “Always say “yes” to the present moment. What could be more futile, more insane, than to create inner resistance to what already is? What could be more insane than to oppose life itself, which is now and always now? Surrender to what is. Say “yes” to life – and see how life suddenly starts working for you rather than against you.”

“The most common ego identifications have to do with possessions, your work, social status and recognition, knowledge and education, physical appearance, special abilities, relationships, person and family history, belief systems, and often nationalistic, racial religious, and other collective identifications. None of these is you.”

“All the things that truly matter, beauty, love, creativity, joy, and inner peace arise from beyond the mind.”

"To the ego, loving and wanting are the same, whereas true love has no wanting in it, no desire to possess or for your partner to change."

"In today's rush, we all overthink, seek too much, want too much, and forget about the joy of just being."

"You attract and manifest whatever corresponds to your inner state."

"Death is a stripping away of all that is not you. The secret of life is to 'die before you die' – and find that there is no death."

"There is no 'mine' or 'yours' in Presence. Presence is One."

"Allow nature to teach you stillness."

"You cannot have an argument with a fully conscious person."

"Wherever you are, be there Totally."

"When the student is ready the teacher appears.
When the student is truly ready the teacher disappears".

"Your innermost sense of self, of who you are, is inseparable from stillness".

"Acknowledge the good that you have in your life is the foundation for all abundance".

SURRENDER

JULIE DALTON

We often hear people use the word surrender but what does it mean in the spiritual sense and how do we practice it on a day-to-day basis.

Surrender is a verb which according to the Cambridge English dictionary means “to stop fighting and admit defeat.” The word’s origin is Old French (842-ca.1400) and is broken up into the parts sur-render, sur is over on top of, render to give back; to return something and surrender, to give up, to hand over.

Surrender in modern day times is often thought of as losing something. Spiritually this the total opposite of what it means and could not be further from the Truth. It is about abiding in the Spirit of God, out of our own thoughts and minds and having faith and trusting that everything is working out perfectly just the way it is in the Now. It is a conscious practice of not allowing our own thoughts to guide and direct us but to surrender to God's will for us.

This can only be entered into free of the mind and with a surrender of our thoughts, we return home to our true essence which is Spirit and Love.

When we consciously choose to release our worries and worldly concerns nothing can block us from experiencing this Love which is our natural state of being and which we were created to share in the world.

Stillness and surrender are recurring themes in the Bible in Psalm 62: 5-6 we are guided to “Let all that I am wait quietly before God, for my hope is in Him. He alone is my rock and my salvation, my fortress where I will not be shaken.”

In John 4:23 we are directed to worship in Spirit: "Yet a time is coming and has now come when the true worshipers will worship the Father in the Spirit and in truth, for they are the kind of worshipers the Father seeks."

Psalm 46:10 "Be still and know that I am God!" Again, we are to enter into the stillness, in Matthew 6:6 Jesus tells us "But as for you, when you pray, enter into your chamber, and lock your door, and pray to your Father who is in secret, and your Father who sees in secret shall reward you openly" A perfect metaphor to go inside into the silence and commune with our true essence.

This surrendering of worries and concerns and anxious imaginings is not a one-time promise but is a moment to moment and day to day practice with the reward being experience of Love and Peace.

So let us continue to surrender our thoughts, concerns, and worries of this world and abide in our true nature of Peace and Love beyond thoughts, it is from here that we can do God's will and honour His guidance.

A REMINDER FROM BROTHER MANDUS

Brother Mandus described his position as a servant of God in a way which reminds us of our continuing joyful responsibility to be of service to all men and women, without any reference to their individual spiritual approach. Our House in Blackpool is increasingly sought out by people of all faiths and none.

Here is what Brother Mandus said:

"The Sanctuary was founded quite simply on a rock of faith and love. Every concept was based upon universal love and tolerance. I was not starting a new movement. I belonged to no church, sect, creed or specific religion. I was simply a servant of God, obeying His Word for me. I will stand today in that simple position, a member of no church, but a member of all. I respect and love every religion upon Earth through which people seek God - and will help any and all of them to prosper in God's Service." (Brother Mandus, Healing in His Light, p.14)

We honour the Divinity that shines through everyone, and we are blessed by their presence.

THIS WONDEROUS WAY OF LIFE.

I had been a business man all my life. In my early twenties I became convinced that I had a spiritual mission in life, so I decided to make a lot of money and devote it to God's work. I began the practice of meditation to prepare myself, seeking to be filled with a sense of universal love. I worked hard at my prosperous business.

Then I had that wonderful spiritual baptism of light that cleansed and purified me.

I redoubled my efforts at money-making so that I could leave business and devote myself to healing. Then my business began to fail. And soon a day came when I was penniless. I went into a little church to meditate. I said aloud, "I wanted to do so much for you, Father, and now I have no money".

Then I had my second spiritual experience. A Voice said, "Now your day has come. You are left with only God to depend on. Start your Sanctuary for Healing".

My eyes were suddenly opened. What a fool I had been! Instead of allowing God to show me the way, I had tried to show Him.

So I opened my Sanctuary. One small room. I had no money, but sick people came to me, and the Sanctuary grew. Now, the Father has created a great crusade for Christ. I give all healing services freely and lovingly, with complete dependence upon God for everything. From the very beginning, Divine healing has taken place in response to our prayers, and He has transformed thousands of human lives from suffering into peace, harmony, health and well-being; and the work grows all the time.

I could not heal anybody. I am only the instrument. We are on the verge of a great spiritual revival all over the land.

An Excerpt from the writings of Brother Mandus.

THE AIM OF HEALING

MARTIN NATHANAEL

The aim of healing is union. It is union with the divine, with God, with the One Absolute Being, so that the sense of separation, which causes all disease, is completely gone. That is the aim of healing. Every single person in need of healing is suffering from one basic problem, which is a sense of separation. If healing is towards union with God, then we can only really help another by helping them to “die” to the illusion of separation. That is esoteric healing. It is “conscious death”. All the other paraphernalia and techniques are merely details or vehicles for this . . . Remember that real healing is towards wholeness. It is to come back to our true Self, which is not separate from the whole of existence. It is to be here completely, with all our Self and all our love.

(Reshad Field, The Alchemy of the Heart, p. 118 - 9)

You and I are not separate! Neither are you separate from anyone else. You are not separate from God. You are not separate from anything in creation. There is one Consciousness shining through everything.

The apparent feeling of being separate is at the root of all the suffering, sense of inadequacy and loss that drives people to search for the relief of this apparent discomfort! And because the feeling does not diminish, people can easily be driven towards more desperate measures, which only fuel further the sense of separation.

Is what I am claiming true? Well, there is a way of checking this out.

First step. Stop whatever you are doing. Sit down. Notice the state of the body. Without interfering, notice the thoughts and feelings swirling around in the mind. Consider this domain of sensations and the inner revolutions of the mind – if this alone forms your world – then, it would appear, that you are confined to this person that you think you are!

Spend a few minutes just taking these two levels in – the bodily sensations and the inner display of thoughts, memories, ideas, images, attitudes, feelings, etc.

This is the first step; basically, you are just acknowledging whatever is going on.

Notice. I haven't suggested you change anything. Any attempt to do so simply keeps you rooted within these two levels, only with different sensations and different thoughts.

Second step. After a while, ask yourself, "What has been observing these sensations and thoughts?" Explore whatever it is that has been observing.

If you find yourself thinking about this observing part of you, then you have slipped back into thought – about observing! You need then to open again to the simplicity of just observing, observing without interfering with what is being witnessed. You may have to do this several times.

Each time you choose observing over thinking, you are stepping into a freer, more peaceful state, and you are entering a more unifying mode of being.

Third step. Begin to savour the inner stillness behind the stream of thoughts. Be prepared to ignore the tug of the thoughts that are clamouring for your attention, however seemingly important, and allow yourself instead to bathe in the emerging stillness and sense of innocent presence.

These are the first steps towards inner freedom and wholeness.

To heal, as many of you probably know, means to “make whole”. In a sense, none of us may appear to be whole . . . we are all seeking wholeness in one way or another. It helps if we understand that, at the core of our being, we are already whole, always have been.

Generally, our everyday lives focus on family and friends, business and chores. We build little cocoons for ourselves which do not allow in anything that might transcend the reasonable or the normal. Maybe we go regularly to Church or some other place of worship or have certain times for prayer or meditation. But these too have become normal parts of our lives and we take them all too much for granted.

It is only when something profound hits us – usually an illness or a crisis of some kind – that we begin to wake up. When the comfortable fabric of our lives is threatened, we might look to God for help. Very often, this isn’t enough, because we fail to see that what we are really doing – in our desperation – is praying for the fabric of our little worlds to be restored: “Give us back our cocoons, for they are what we worship and cherish!” Of course, we are unlikely to use these exact words, but if we looked inside ourselves honestly, we could well find this to be our intent!

When we find ourselves confronted with pain and suffering, maybe life is trying to teach us something. I speak from the standpoint that nothing happens by chance or accident. For this, I make no apology. If any kind of experience makes us look at ourselves and begin to re-evaluate our lives, then we have already turned adversity to advantage. We may be able to step out of the limits of our personal story, and taking anchor deeper within ourselves, stand in the awareness of an unlimited, universal Self.

If we do so, we have swept away the dream of separation, and realised our “always-been-there” oneness with all.

We are then able to look at everything like a child, seeing things for the first time, bringing the sense of the wondrous into our lives. We start to see even the everyday things as something beautiful through which we may express the love in our soul.

Because we do not know everything, anything is possible, and in that state of wonderment we reach out to the Universal Life.

Let us reach out of the ordinary and open our hearts to Wholeness.

Sitting & Forgetting

Yan Hui visited the famous Chinese sage Confucius, and said, “I am making progress.”

Confucius asked him, “What do you mean, making progress?”

Yan Hui replied, “I just sit and forget.”

Confucius, stunned as if kicked, said, “What do you mean, you sit and forget?”

Yan Hui said, “It’s a letting go of attachment to form and an ousting of my understanding, until I am the same as the Transformational and Great Openness. This is what I call just sitting and forgetting.

Confucius said, “You are a worthy man! I beg to be accepted as your disciple.”

YOUR WEEK WITH THE FATHER -BROTHER MANDUS

Mon

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, he who believes in me, the work that I do he shall do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go to my Father” - Jesus

Whatever your pain or problem this day, the Spirit leads you into absolute freedom. God takes your burdens unto Himself and asks only that you shall abandon them to Him.

You have become still. The turbulence of mind and body and affairs has disappeared in the Peace of God. You are One with His Love, His Spirit is instantaneous healing throughout your life. He soothes and comforts you and makes you whole.

‘Oh, Lord, give me a vision of wondrous things to do. Stir me from apathy and compromise. Fill me with an eager rejoicing and thankfulness of heaven. Give me a mighty work to do for You and teach me to do it in Thy Strength.

In the Great silence, being still, I am filled with Divine strength, and radiate His Love through me to everyone else. This night I shall sleep in the Kingdom of my Father, and allow His Perfection to flow through the whole range of my mind, soul, body and affairs. Thank You Father for everything.’

Tue

“And although I have the gift of prophecy and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge, and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing” – 1 Corinthians 13:2.

Through your simple faith and great love, you are now in the Kingdom of God. You are one with Christ in the Spirit of the Father, in Whom you live, and move and have your being.

No matter what difficulties appear to assail you today, God is leading you safely and surely forward to victory. He can never fail in His eternal purposes. This day you are centred in Him, and are now releasing all problems or pains, rejoicing in the simple acceptance of His Spirit.

‘Thank you Father, in thankfulness and praise, I am content to release my life into Your care today. Your Love is sufficient for all my needs and I know now that this day I am centred in the Spirit, believing in Your goodness expressing through me.

Even so, in Thy Kingdom of Love, I do not possess these gifts for myself alone. I thankfully accept all that comes to me from You, but also now allow the same stream of Blessedness to bear gifts of love, prayer, help and service to everyone else. Your Will forever be done in me, and through me, Lord. Thy Will, not mine.’

Wed

“For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart” – Hebrews 4:12

Being one with the Father, you are no longer troubled or afraid of difficulties. You know that every experience has value and is necessary for the unfolding of your eternal life. Every difficulty is an opportunity to establish your faith and love in Christ. In Him you now have the joy of witnessing God’s Love dissolving every problem and revealing His Power in action.

God has given you this day. What are you going to do with it? He seeks only to fill it with joy, peace and perfect everything. He desires to be with you in the work you do, in the decisions you make and to speak through you to everyone you meet.

Teach me, Lord, the simple way of love and faith. Teach me to be still in You. Teach me the need to spend time in deep communion with You.

I arise in Christ, invincible and free. I rejoice and give thanks for the peace of God which is now upon me. I go forth to bring love, peace, help and happiness to everyone else in prayer, thought, word and deed. Use me this day to Thy Glory.

Thu

“For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Jesus Christ our Lord”
– Romans 8:38,39

When we find the Light, we are no longer content to dwell in darkness. All our pains and problems, personal, national or international all represent the mourning of the soul because it is temporarily separated in awareness from the full glory of God’s Love.

We have yet to realise that God is Love, and that the Law of Love is the infallible Power which returns multiple Blessings when exercised in faith, unconditionally. The truth that makes man free is the Love which expends itself without conditions, to Bless others.

‘And as I discover these infinite joys for myself, please Lord, lead me in ways where I may bring joy and peace into the lives of others. Take my life and consecrate it to serve You each day. I love You, Lord, and I love everyone, everywhere.’

"I am come a light unto the world, that whatsoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness" - Jesus.

The greatest revelation ever given to mankind is that God is Love, so you are Love, in this knowledge, lies freedom, abundant life, health, joy, and eternal progression for all. Therefore, it is of paramount importance, and fundamental to your wellbeing.

These words come to you as a Blessing, and as a challenge. In these wonderful days we have a glorious opportunity to allow the Father to rescue humanity from error and sickness, disease and disaster, through the lives of those who are prepared to go all the way with Christ in love, faith and example.

Thousands of people all over the world are daily united in this common cause. Keep close to us in this, and pray the Holy Spirit may quicken the lives of all His people.

Sat

"There is one glory in the sun, and another of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for one star differeth from another star in glory". - (1) Corinthians

The wonder of God's creation is the infinite variety of beauty which He bestows upon the whole universe. Whether it be the sun or a flower, the stars or a newborn child, and in everything that is throughout the whole world, we are privileged indeed to witness the power of God in action.

Once we see the truth of His Presence in everything we can find a perfect faith in His eternal direction of our lives. In fact, our only need is to learn this complete dependence upon Him for Perfect Everything. When we truly arise in Christ to become established in this Kingdom of Perfection, we shall truly be able to accept the life abundant which is His desire to minister unto us as quickly as we can drop our limitations and accept infinite Blessings on every level.

In this basic principle of God's Presence, I am receptive to that which the Lord desires lovingly to bestow upon me. I turn the whole of my attention to Him, and claim Christ as my friend and partner in the unfolding of Divine Perfection through every experience of this day.

Sun

"If ye shall ask anything in My Name, I will do it". - Jesus - (John 14:14)
Like a little child, I take my burdens to the Lord, and believe immediately in His Perfect will for me. Like a little child I accept completely that the Lord brings forth everything that is perfect in my life. Like a little child I take every trouble and immediately behold the glory of Infinite Perfection in the midst of it.

I arise in love and give myself to the Lord. I am filled with compassion, patience, tolerance and kindness, for all these are the gifts of God. I am poised in peace and know that I dwell in the Kingdom of my Father.

I become still in Spirit, and know that He ministers His Grace and Love upon me. I rest in the knowledge that He is working His miracles in my life. Thank You, Father, for the peace that is my perfection.

MY WISH

If I could just go back in time
Say, perhaps to the age of nine
In woods my friends and I would scramble
I'd scratch my legs on berry bramble

We jumped over ditches
We climbed over styles
It seemed that we had walked miles and miles
Then I saw them... what a sight

The Fragrant smell, the sheer delight
A carpet of blue to match the sky
What a sight to gladden the eye

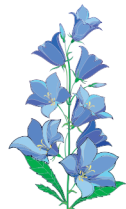

The sun was warm
The birds were singing
To make their nests
they were winging

In the wood were primroses
violets and other small flowers
It's wonderful how nature hold things in her power

To stand in this wood, was such a thrill
It was magic... and time stood still

And now I am old
I ask the Lord if I could
Take just one more walk
In a blue-bell wood

THE SLEEPING CHILDREN

WRITTEN BY BROTHER MANDUS

As a small boy, about seven years old, I used to have some extraordinary experiences which only now do I fully understand. Quite often, even in the midst of exciting activities like playing with my toys, I would be “caught up” in an intensive stillness, and during such moments was always aware of a wondrous Presence. Sometimes I felt as though I was being lifted right away into heights far removed from my room of play.

These experiences were always accompanied by a tremendous joy which even then gave me a most comforting sense that I was very much loved. I never saw any visions, apart from waves of intense violet light which gave the impression of infinite extension. Once, after one of these periods in the Great Stillness, I went straight to a huge mirror in a very broad gilt frame hanging over the mantelpiece, and, boy-like, scratched with a nail on the gold paint words which have been etched on my soul as eternal truth ever since: “I will never die. God loves me”.

These periods of stillness gradually diminished, and it was not until many years later that I re-discovered what I now realise to be deep meditation in the Presence of God. But I do know now that young children are very close to the Lord and that wise parents and friends help them, and themselves, in Christ-like way by communion with the Lord together in perfect love, faith, trust and expectancy.

After learning much about human problems in the course of many years devoted to business, I became completely committed to our Lord Jesus Christ and yearned only to follow Him in the full Gospel of love, faith, prayer and healing. And soon I was guided, in the midst of great personal tribulations, and without any money to open a Sanctuary of Divine Healing based on absolute love for God, and people and devoted entirely to helping anyone, without condition or price, even as Jesus would do.

I soon discovered that the “signs and wonders” followed this simple love, faith and prayer, as Jesus promises in all His teaching. As bruised and broken people began to come to my first humble sanctuary, and we prayed together, they were transformed. Sometimes an instantaneous healing would occur and we would marvel at such a revelation of the living Presence. Sometimes our prayers produced only a betterment of the condition, and many healings were only effected finally after weeks of prayer and devotion to the Christ Way of life. Some people were never healed physically, but in most cases the miracle of spiritual transformation took place.

The first person who came to the Sanctuary for help was an elderly lady with crippling arthritis in her legs. We simply prayed together in love and a simple faith that Christ’s Perfection was in our midst. Ten minutes later she just got on to her feet and walked absolutely free.

I knew then at the outset that not only were my own dedication and faith justified but that here was, potentially, the completed answer to every human ill – from warfare right down to personal problem and pains. And, after all, this is exactly what Jesus revealed in His good news for mankind. Naturally enough, with the Lord in charge, the work rapidly expanded through the years and, by the Grace and direction of God alone, it has become a world ministry of love, prayer, and spiritual teaching. My guidance, from the beginning, was to establish a World Healing Sanctuary dedicated absolutely to help all people, and all churches, in a strictly inter-denominational way without any conditions attaching to our service.

HEALING

BROTHER MANDUS

As I look back over the unfolding of my Mission, I see how many mistakes were made. With earnest zeal, I would often clamour in prayer for a healing of each patient, instead of simply entering the Kingdom and letting God do all that was necessary. So often did self intervene that I marvel at some of the healings being possible at all.

Increasingly I have understood our only real need is to know that our Father is right there at all times and that we should simply give ourselves to Him for all our aches and troubles to be smoothed away. Where Perfection is, imperfection cannot exist.

Most Divine Healing and Transformations take place progressively as the seeker begins seriously to live in the conscious Presence of God. I know, however, that when we can surrender self, and lift ourselves straight into the Divine Love, any illness or problem can be resolved as quickly as darkness in a blaze of light. I have seen it happen many times. There IS a Way to freedom! Our Lord Jesus proclaimed it two thousand years ago, yet still we miss the way. I believe our greatest needs are to KNOW that absolute Perfection is a Higher Consciousness WITHIN, immediately present on recognition, and to learn to enter that Kingdom without question, simply, like children.

I suppose millions of people are consciously seeking God, and all are needing Him. Yet relatively few have truly found the perfect answer. Most of us are hoping someday our prayers will be heard and our needs manifested; very few accept the complete answer as already made real at the moment of asking. We know there is a Presence but somehow it seldom seems real to us, and we agonise ourselves striving to reach God "Somewhere, sometime". Simultaneously we continue to battle against the adversities, which seem to harm or threaten us. Life becomes so uncertain and complicated that vast numbers just turn away and struggle on alone.

Be still! We sit down quietly and, without doubting or clamouring, just know that God immediately enfolds us with His Peace, Love and Perfection. In giving ourselves to Him unconditionally, we rejoice that we have entered His Kingdom, and that His Peace and Power are transforming our lives completely. It is like opening the thick curtains of a darkened room and allowing the sunshine to flood in. And just as simple.

Wherever we are, at home, in a bus, working, or asleep, there also is Our Heavenly Father. His Love envelopes us and constantly manifests as Health, Power, Peace, Happiness, Success and Abundance when we live in an awareness of His Presence and Protection.

It is a fact that we cannot have light and darkness together. We have to choose one or the other. In our everyday life we are usually thinking a mixture of negative and positive thoughts. When pain or trouble arrives we give a lot of attention to it. When some good news comes we forget the troubles for a while and rejoice. Because we now know that our negative mood our intention, anger, resentment and worry, all create present and future burdens, we understand the futility of harbouring such thoughts any longer.

So we go into the Kingdom of God, Presence, where there is only the Light of Perfection. That Light is constantly ours for as long as we care to remain in IT. But if we turn our vision away from God and begin to dwell upon our worries, insecurities and troubles, we turn out the Light. Many prayers are temporarily halted in manifestation by our own decision to leave the Kingdom and come back into the realm of personal limitations and frustrations.

Be careful! Be simple! We create only greater tribulations if we fight and struggle. Whatever evil or ill there is to be overcome, willpower and constant dwelling upon the problem will only intensify it.

To think deeply and continuously about negative conditions makes them powerful. Darkness always seems to be a mighty force, but Light is the real power.

The Master told us to keep our minds stayed upon God. When we do so, under His Strength and Protection, our fears and worries slip away of their own accord. We do not need to chase them, for when we find God we have found everything we can ever need.

I cannot imagine anyone being fearful about any condition once it is realised that all Power of the Father is in control. I know in my own experience, whenever difficulties have forced their attention upon me, if I re-establish myself in the Kingdom any outer trouble has no more power. As I find Peace within, I know the Perfect Answer is already manifesting. In this state of Awareness, if the problem comes to mind, we can joyfully realise that God is in the midst of it and all is well. It is wonderful how even the blackest cloud disperses when we remain steadfast.

Let us clear our minds forever of all the uncertainties, complicated methods, and intellectual barriers that have cluttered our minds in the past. Whatever church or religion we choose to help us in our quest, our fundamental need is to forget self and find God. We can do this only by going to Him with a simple faith and complete acceptance of the Truth that immediately He lifts us into Being.

THOUGHTS FROM BENTINHO MASSARO...

You know that shift your heart truly desires? The change you've been wanting to make? That sense of destiny that's called to you for as long as you can remember? Do it.

You know that building pressure you've been trying to suppress because your old-self fears how uncontrollably free you'll be? Let go of fearing who you are, and allow that true reality in today.

Your postponement is literally killing you; and before it kills you it will consistently kill the quality and overall health of your life.

Your attachment to safety is dangerous. Now more than ever at record speeds you are tearing yourself apart by holding on to that boulder in the stream—when the universe is wanting you to merge with your whole Self for the sake of all beings.

Catch up with your dreams today. It's not going to be any easier tomorrow than it is today. There is not a more perfectly flawed moment than now. Don't wait for perfection. The longer you wait the greater the strain. Make that final decision today and leave your inhibitions at bay. Trust, trust, trust. The universe has got you. Everything you need is already lined up for you.

Upon your surrender and faith, the steps will appear, and the stream of that Supreme Intelligence beyond your mind will re-arrange all specifics of your external reflection because it can only do so once you have surrendered your little will to that greater will of your Soul.

Give up your small-minded pride in knowing. Know nothing except to recognize that which you Love, that which calls you so powerfully, and trust the magnetic power of your Highest Excitement. Make today the day you become truly yourself. Leave the world alone. Let them project their own limits unto you; be an example of what they too can allow themselves to be.

Let today be the first day of your ecstasy. Be reborn within yourself and let God re-assemble the pieces around you in accordance with your new state. You are the chooser; God is the doer.

To delay is to decay. To cling is to destroy yourself. To let go means to rise. Love yourself today more than any day that has come before, and your future will reflect this great act of trust with all its grace.

BROTHER CONRAD

HOW DIVINE ABUNDANCE IS FOR EVERYONE

With me you are like a tree heavily laden with fruit. Everyone is invited to partake of our gifts freely; those who come to me are guided by Me in many different ways. When they come, give them what I guide you to give. Listen to what they say. We are the perfect supply to meet demand, and our gift will not be wasted.

Do not judge the person by his appearance or by the way he comes to you. If you do, you will find that the gift of love which is always designed to bring peace in the present and happiness in the future, will be imperfectly given and imperfectly received.

I work through the giver and the receiver of gifts, equally, and sustain and increase My Kingdom through and with all therein.

- FROM "LISTENING TO THE LORD"

Simone Cowgill on...

GRATITUDE & FORGIVENESS

TOOLS FOR YOUR SPIRITUAL ARSENAL

Being grateful for what we have, is a way to attract more abundance into our lives. Once we are working from 'Soul' level, we become grateful for what we have in our lives and cease to look for things outside of ourselves to bring us happiness and fulfilment. This is a big shift in perception, where our goals are no longer about what we have in terms of material goods or status. Our perception shifts from ego to spirit, and we become grateful for the love and the necessities of life.

My grandma lived in gratitude and her joy was apparent to all who met her. She found joy in the little things, even going to the shop to buy food. She always had time for people and always showered all her family with gratitude for whatever they did for her, no matter how little. She lived a soul realised life, full of love and gratitude and people loved her back in return. That lust for life, shines out of people and you can feel their joy and gratitude in everything they do.

We need to stop and recognise the good things we have in our lives and focus on those things. When we are truly grateful, we feel better inside. We can wake up each day with our hearts open, able to move forward awake, without apathy and complacency. To appreciate being alive and all that we have to be grateful for, the things that truly matter to us. The Universe hears our gratitude and presents us with more to be grateful for.

Forgiveness is something that Jesus speaks about on many occasions. He tells us to 'forgive seventy times seven times.' Holding onto hatred and resentment, we only hurt ourselves physically through dis-ease as well as mentally and spiritually. Freedom comes when we decide to release resentments.

Dr Wayne Dyer said that 'there are no justified resentments.' What a powerful message that is. Why do we continue to carry all that weight on our backs? If it was physical weight, we would have released it years ago. Yet we get stuck with our emotional baggage. It has energetic hooks in us. Some people make it their 'story' or 'badge of honour.'

Jesus reminds us what we do to another, we do to ourselves. This sentiment can be found in all the major world religions. We are all connected, so as you set a person or situation free, let it go with 'love and light.' You may never understand why something has happened or why a person behaves the way they do, but you must understand, it is their stuff. Going over and over things in our minds, keeps us energetically tied to it.

It is spiritually ok to let go of toxic people and situations and release them both physically and mentally. Self-love is important and compassion for those who hurt you is a great leveller. Remember God loves everyone, we are all 'loved and beloved children of the Universe.' Jesus told us that he didn't come to save those who are well but those who are sick and have strayed.

Look for the lessons and the love and let the rest go. Dr Wayne Dyer also said, 'it's none of your business what other people think about you.' In other words, people will have their own opinions and judgements based on their own life experiences. It is not always about you, their judgements are their 'stuff.' As we release the negative energy, we can embrace the joy. As we forgive, we come into a place of God's grace. As we release the fear, we find freedom.

If you could see the Soul of another person, there would be no judgements only love. Gratitude, forgiveness and love are among the most powerful Spiritual tools we have and we would be wise to follow the spiritual guidance we have been given, for it is there that you will find God's Grace.

The Healing Silence.

Written by
Bro. Mandus

In true meditation, in the Silence, all resistance should drop right out of experience. You are one with the Lord, and you should be feeling, expecting, experiencing and believing that His Spirit is projecting Perfect Everything throughout your being, spiritually, mentally, physically and materially. In this high consciousness you are no longer concerned about your problem or pain, but know that God's love and grace represent the perfect answer to every need.

One can talk at great length about these exciting experiences. But unless we are led into a personal union and communion with the Father, words, definitions and opinions about God are too often complicated and empty vapourings. We must learn to be completely in love with utterly simple, become completely in love with God, and trust Him to teach, heal and illumine us in every way. We surrender our whole being into His Spirit. There is nothing more for us to do, except to believe implicitly. It is the Father Who will minister unto us.

Be still. Let the Great Father Who created you instruct, guide, heal, bless, illuminate and inspire you. As you listen, you will come to know that truth makes you free. Christ-like thoughts and deeds will be reflected into your daily experience.

Let us experience this reality now. Be stillYou are perfectly relaxedBe still.....You do not need to do anything. You are already sitting in the Presence of God. You already recognise His Presence to be Almighty Love for you. You already accept the fact that our Lord knows exactly what you need and how to bring every necessary adjustment in your life.

I want you to realise that you are not a body. You are a spirit - nothing else but spirit. You are not in bondage to the earth or to self or to body. You are a spiritual being, poised in the Spirit of God Almighty. You have become still... and the Father takes supreme control of your being.....Now let your breathing deepen....a slow deep rhythm....feel your rhythm which feels right for you, without effort or strain...A few minutes poised in the Silence...filled with the breath of God....deep, wonderful waves of Power....the ebb and flow of God's Love.

Now let your breathing go still.....You will feel that wonderful poise. A spiritual being, no longer entangled in anything. Feel that hush...that point of suspension....I think you will also be feeling that tingling, electric consciousness, that Peace which is beyond understanding.....The Father is revealing His Love in you....It is a moment like this in which your life can be completely changed ...if you are appreciating what this sense of peace is, you will be experiencing it as absolute power liberated in your soul and mind and body and affairs...Now let your breathing deepen again.....Don't be afraid to fill your lungs...Let the air go right down to the bottom....Feel the power in it.....

Now let your breathing lighten again...Come into that suspension again, so that you can feel again that point of peace and equilibrium. It is at moments like this that the Father is saying "Therefore arise. Be thou made whole. Claim and realise what this Love means". It is at moments like these that you really can begin to appreciate what God is. And as you continue daily practising this Presence of God, naturally your awareness of His Power deepens.

He opened the gates to heaven.

(THE STORY OF BROTHER MANDUS BY DONALD CURTIS)

It was in 1958 when I first met Brother Mandus of the World Healing Crusade (now World Healing Centre) based in Blackpool, England. From the pulpit of a church in Los Angeles, he spoke of our partnership with the Infinite Spirit of God, of the supreme importance of prayer, and of the simplicity with which we can enter God's presence. He affirmed that this communication with the Father could result in healings on every level—spiritual, mental, physical, and material.

Then, continuously lifting his arms as if to bring us higher and higher into the Christ Consciousness, he moved out into the overflowing sanctuary. He approached those who wished to be healed and placed his hands on them to pray. Some were healed instantaneously of their illness or disabilities; others were touched at the soul level. They were spiritually challenged, with outer results to follow.

I was immediately drawn to the Christ which shone so brightly within this man. He was radiant and joyous, filled with the life of Spirit. I went to two other of his healing meetings that day, wanting to be nearer and nearer to absorb the love, purity, and goodness that flowed from him. I knew that day how the first disciples must have felt, for he was truly one of the most Christ-like individuals I have ever known.

Over the next thirty years, until transition in March of 1988, I remained his friend and associate, keeping in close contact with him as he travelled throughout the world. He wanted to simply be "a brother to all mankind", and so he was—on all continents and in almost every country. When Jesus said, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost", Brother Mandus literally obeyed,

Always humble and free from false ego, Brother Mandus was what Joel Goldsmith called "a Transparency". He would open the gates to what he called Paradise, or to Heaven, and he would tell us that this was the normal and natural state of being, that all the problems and aches and pains we have "out here" were not the real state. That real state is the Christ-like being within you.

In This Wondrous Way of Life, one of the most popular of his nine books, he described the moment he came to trust and not question the presence of that indwelling Spirit:

It was the greatest experience of my life. For one perfect second, unexpected, unheralded, and while I was doing a trivial task, my personal mind and body were fused in LIGHT, a breathless, unbearable LIGHT-PERFECTION, as intense as the explosion of a flame of lightning within me.

More unendurable than the holy flame of LIGHT was the perfect nature of Christ which extinguished self. In this timeless second, I knew a Love, Wisdom, Knowledge and Ecstasy transcending anything I could understand or describe. I was lifted into the midst of God in whom all people, all worlds, and every created thing moved and had their being. Perfection!

Had I been suffering from the worst mental or physical disease known to man, in that LIGHT I should instantly have been made WHOLE.

In that moment, I knew my Lord dwells within my own being, and within everyone else. In that one moment, I knew the truth of His eternal reality, and that He is ALL; that my Father and I are ONE, that all people and the Father are ONE; and that we are all ONE with each other in His Spirit.

I have not had such an experience since. It has not been necessary, because I naturally accept His Presence in the midst of every experience. And He, just as naturally, reveals His love and guidance all day long.

Before and for a few years after that life-changing experience, Brother Mandus had a successful ship chartering business based in both England and

From his early 20s, he knew he had a spiritual mission, so he determined that he would make as much money as possible and devote it to God's work. After his spiritual baptism of Light, he redoubled his efforts so that he could leave his business and devote himself totally to healing. But ironically, the business began to fail, and the day finally came when he was totally penniless. He describes his feelings on that day. I went into a little church to meditate. I said aloud, "I wanted to do so much for you, Father, and now I have no money".

Then a voice said, "Now your day has come. You are left with only God to depend on. Start your Sanctuary for Healing".

Suddenly, my eyes were opened. What a fool I had been! Instead of allowing God to show me the way, I had tried to show Him.

So Brother Mandus followed God's direction to Blackpool, England, opening his Healing Sanctuary in one small room of a larger house. He had no money, but people in need sought him out, were healed, and the Sanctuary grew. He began to speak in other churches as well, always offering healing services freely and lovingly with complete dependence upon God for everything. And of course, word spread of miraculous healings taking place.

Brother Mandus conducted many healing services for my own Science of Mind and Church in Los Angeles in the 1960s and later during the 70s at the Unity Church of Dallas. My wife and co-minister, Dorothy, and I both received physical as well as other healings during those visits. The consciousness of this Church is largely attributable to Him, because he instilled so much purity of heart and mind and soul.

He was always careful to distinguish between the healer and the action of God's Spirit. Concerning "gifts of healing", he stressed, as Jesus did, that "the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works". He pointed out that anyone can call upon this Power, because true healing did not result from something being done to a person, but that it came from within the person. He felt his function was to lead the person into direct contact with God so that His Will could work in that person's life.

Brother Mandus has assisted the spiritual awakening of multitudes of people, keeping his Sanctuary phone lines open 24 hours a day and maintaining a steady flow of correspondence. He had numerous cases of instantaneous healings at great distances, bridging oceans and wide-ranging religious beliefs with simple, trusting faith and love.

He was one of the first ministers to use tape recordings as a means for healing, visiting personally with people throughout the world via magnetic tape. "Donald", he told me, "you should use tape recording more, because when you record your thoughts or your prayers or your healing treatments, and you send that to an individual, you actually go with it. The magnetic tape can pick up the consciousness of an individual, and by a mystical power can be transported to others".

*These tapes he distributed freely around the world, as he also did with his two monthly healing booklets, The Crusader and Power Lines, the latter targeted to the business community.*

*The ministry of Brother Mandus was interdenominational, and was equally embraced by many orthodox churches. In his beloved book, The Grain of Mustard Seed, he describes his beliefs in a chapter entitled, "The Christ Vision":*

It is a human futility to argue that Spiritual Healing can, or must, only take place through the specific channel of one's own denomination or religion. The evidence contradicts any such assertion, and we would do well to lift our vision to a loving Father Who is concerned only for the well-being of His children.

Divine Power has responded in every conceivable way in the healing of vast numbers of people through their own approach. We gain nothing by ignoring this fact, and lose much if we sit in self-righteous judgement upon their methods. In love and tolerance, we can appreciate their vision of God and perhaps can serve their cause in true Christ Spirit.

(Published in the Science of Mind Magazine - February 1990)

For without a vision, a man or a nation is lost. A house divided against itself cannot stand. In this time of the birth pangs of the New Age, our first obligation is to muster all our united spiritual resources safely to bear us forward into it.

And to this end, we must envisage one Father of all mankind, and the brotherhood of man, with all his ways leading back home to God.

Brother Mandus is now in spirit but I feel his presence with me continuously. I will be eternally grateful for all the time I spent with him, and I can only respond as he did continually, by saying, "Thank you Father"! My benediction to him is one of his own, given in a chapter entitled "The Golden Year" in The Grain of Mustard Seed:

"When the great day comes, you may well be welcomed by the Father, by angels and loved ones. And the Lord may kiss you and say: "Well done, My beloved one, well done! For My people of Earth are more loving, wiser, purer, and richer because you lived with them."

Brother Conrad

Let the good in you unite with the good in me. I let the good in me unite with the good in you. All which is bad and silly in our relationship is banished and has no foundation. What is more, the good we share is our unity with the good of all humanity. We arise enthused and empowered with new vision and resolve to bring forth wonderful creations for which we thank God.

We are no longer lost. We embody our mutual purpose and happy destiny. Our name is love. Our complementary spirit is shared peace; health, happiness and success. Our guiding light inspiration and worthwhile example is easily absorbed and respected. Our joy is limitless. Our freedom is boundless. Our adventures exploring shared goodness are endless. Truly, we hold one another safe forever.

Our resolve with sustained purpose is to liberate the good in one another. The power of all life raises our souls. Our standard is goodwill and peace for all mankind. Henceforth we do not allow ourselves to be distracted from this course of unity and mutual respect.

We discover and we cherish the good in ourselves and in one another. As this is universally increased we have our wondrous way of life. We have our new agreements. These are contracts in the spirit of love. They are witnessed and signed by humanity for God. Thank You Father.
